That is not a problem! Robert and Claire are probably going to opt for another weekend also, when the weather is cooler...say around 90 degrees :) I'm in no hurry...decided to have a table made for a dining table/library table (am excited about this!) and have found a couple of upholstery folks on Angie's List that sound good. May try to check them out this weekend....in between bouts of heat exhaustion. You take care of yourself...stay cool (ha!)...and HYDRATE! We will get together a little later.

Camille:

Sadly I will miss our Saturday evening gathering to help with decorating ideas on your lovely new apartment. I hope we can reschedule for another day as I always enjoy seeing you and really enjoy sharing decorating ideas. I am off for seven days to help with the effort.

Thank you as always!!
